Domestic investors (including domestic investors and overseas investors who do not choose cross-border transfer of custody) can only sell, but not buy the Company's H shares. After overseas investors completed the cross-border transfer of custody, they can buy or sell the Company's H shares in accordance with the general H share trading rules without transaction restrictions.

I. Cross-border transfer of custody process

Before applying for cross-border custody of transfer, overseas investors should open a securities trading account with any securities company or custody bank in Hong Kong, and fill in the relevant information of the securities account when applying for custody transfer. The specific process of cross-border transfer of custody is as follows:

(1) The investor shall submit the application for cross-border transfer of H shares to the securities company designated for trading or the designated custodian bank for settlement with the identity document.

(2) After the securities company or the custodian bank has verified that it is correct and verified that the cross-border transfer custody shares declared by the investor have no rights flaws (including but not limited to judicial freezing, share pledge, etc.), fill in the "Application form for cross-border transfer of custody of H Shares" and the cross-border transfer custody detailed data file and submit the transfer custody application to China Securities Depository and Clearing Corporation Limited through its registered mailbox in China Securities Depository and Clearing Corporation Limited.

II. Precautions for cross-border transfer of custody

Overseas investors who have not opened a securities trading account with a Hong Kong securities company or a custodian bank cannot conduct the cross-border transfer of custody. Investors who apply for cross-border transfer of custody shall not trade or transfer the shares declared for cross-border transfer of custody.

If the investor's securities account balance is less than the number of cross-border transfer custody applications, the securities account cross-border transfer of custody application becomes invalid.

If investors and securities companies want to know the specific operation instructions for cross-border transfer of custody, please read carefully the "Announcement on the Cross-border Transfer Related to the Domestically Listed Foreign Shares Changing the Listing Venue and Listed on the Main Board of Hong Kong Stock Exchange Limited By Way of Introduction" (Announcement ref: 2022-010) published on 4th March 2022.

After Huaxin Cement B-to-H, the main transaction rules for submitting transactions are as follows:

I. Trading hours of H shares after conversion

When the Hong Kong Stock Exchange suspends trading, the H-share transaction declaration is also suspended. In order to match the orders in the continuous trading phase of H shares, investors apply for limit orders in the B shares account, and then the overseas agent brokers will convert them into H shares orders and submit them to the Hong Kong Stock Exchange in accordance with the relevant rules of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.

The specific transaction orders of domestic investors and overseas investors for domestic transactions are handled in the following ways:

From 9:15 to 9:30, a sell order can be entered, and there is no transaction report during this period. The order is temporarily stored in the trading system of the Hong Kong securities company, and all temporarily stored orders are sent to the Hong Kong Stock Exchange at 9:30;

At the same time, in the event of a typhoon, black rainstorm or other circumstances stipulated by the Hong Kong Stock Exchange, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange may suspend the trading of the stock market. Investors will not be able to sell H shares during the suspension period, and the settlement will be arranged according to the arrangement under special weather of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.

III. Types of orders that can be placed

After Huaxin Cement B is converted to H, only non-domestically trading overseas investors can place auction orders. Domestic investors and domestically trading overseas investors cannot place auction orders, but only limit orders.

IV. Limits on rise and fall

There is no daily price limit for H share trading.

V. Intra-day turn-around transaction system

H shares are settled by T+2 and can be traded on the same day, and the number of times is unlimited. For stocks that accept “short selling” (such as large blue-chip stocks), you can sell first and then buy.

Domestic investors and domestically trading overseas investors can only continue to hold or sell the converted H shares, so they cannot conduct intra-day turn-around and short-selling transactions. Only non-domestically trading overseas investors can conduct intra-day turn-around transactions according to this rule.

VI. Minimum price unit

H shares do not have a uniform trading price, and the minimum price unit varies with the price range of the stock when it is listed, as shown in the following table:

H-share minimum fluctuation price reference table

Unit: Hong Kong dollar

Security Price Range	Minimum price unit
0.01-0.25	0.001
0.25-0.5	0.005

0.5-10	0.01
10-20	0.02
20-100	0.05
100-200	0.1
200-500	0.2
500-1,000	0.5
1,000-2,000	1
2,000-5,000	2
5,000-9,995	5

VII. Valid price range for sell orders

The order price cannot exceed the acceptable range of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange when placing an H share trade order, otherwise the trade order will be automatically cancelled. The valid price range for domestic investors' H-share sell transaction orders is the valid price range for transaction orders determined based on the minimum price unit on the basis of the current transaction price.

Please refer to the website of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange for detailed details on the price range in the trading rules of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.

VIII. Odd lot

The minimum unit for stock trading on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange is one board lot, and the size of a board lot of each listed security is determined by the issuer. For details, please refer to the information disclosed by the listed company. Securities with a balance of less than one lot are called "odd lot" in the Hong Kong market. There is a special market in the Hong Kong Stock Exchange to provide odd lot trading.

After the conversion, the minimum order quantity for Huaxin Cement H shares is 100 shares per lot, and the balance of less than 100 shares is an odd lot.

The odd shares held by investors must be sold at one time, and the number of odd shares held can be sold separately or together with the number of whole shares. Example: An investor holds 120 H shares after conversion, of which 20 are odd shares. Investors can declare to sell 120 shares at one time, or they can declare to sell 100 shares and 20 shares respectively, but they cannot declare to sell 110 shares and 10 shares respectively.

Investors need to be aware that, generally speaking, the odd lot market will be priced slightly lower than the price of the same share in the full unit market due to the low liquidity. Therefore, if you place order to sell odd lots at the market price, there is a possibility that you cannot sell at the market price. In order to increase the probability of odd lot transactions, investors can sell the odd lot shares they hold after Huaxin Cement B-to-H by placing an order at a price slightly lower than the market price, such as 85%-90% of the market price.

It is herewith announced.
